Experience in international cooperation (mobilities, projects, available study programmes in English language):
Since its inception in 2003, Lauder Business School (LBS) has pursued an extremely international orientation. Founded with the aim of attracting international students to Vienna, its degree programs at the bachelor's and master's level are taught exclusively in English. As such, LBS boasts of a faculty of internationally-minded academics and industry practitioners. Students learn applied business administration in a culturally diverse environment, where they receive a wide array of tailor-made incoming services (e.g. support with bureaucracy, German-language courses, and encounters with major local employers). Moreover, LBS is an active member of the Microeconomics of Competitiveness Network, which is based at Harvard Business School and comprised of leading business schools around the globe. As part of its Erasmus+ activities LBS has, among others, garnered particular experience in the fields of developing and implementing internship mobilities across the EU.

Experience in international cooperation (mobilities, projects, available study programmes in English language):
The University of Innsbruck has decades of experience with international cooperation and mobility programs. We offer a wide spectrum of study programs in all fields and collaborate with more than 200 institutions in Europe within the Erasmus Program. We have additional agreements with more than 70 universities worldwide. The Uoi participates in all major exchange programs, e.g. Secondos, Swap&amp;Transfer etc. and is a member of many networks, like Asea-Uninet, Eurasia-Pacific Uninet, and others. Many International Study Programs are offered with partner institutions, e.g. an Erasmus Mundus Master in Astrophysics, a Master in Classical Cultures etc. We established "Area Centers" within the university, focusing on France, Italy, Russia, Canada and Inter-American Studies. Additionally, the Uoi has a 40+ year's strong partnership with the University of New Orleans in student and faculty exchange as well as research projects, including respective partnership offices at both institutions (Center New Orleans at Uoi and Center Austria at UNO), sending more than 70 students to the U.S. every year. The American Corner Innsbruck also promotes academic ties to the U.S. In 2013, the Uoi inaugurated the first academic network with Israel in Austria, AIANI (Austria-Israel Academic Network Innsbruck), which solely focuses on the academic collaboration with Israeli universities and research institutions. This network provides funding for Guest Professors and Fellows as well as grants for joint projects. AIANI provides logistical and organizational support and works on establishing partnerships with Israeli institutions of higher education. It is a networking center, connecting students and faculty from both institutions with each other and with the Innsbruck and Tyrolean community.

Currently working on the re-submission of ValueIL- Validation of Learning in Universities and Colleges in Israel. In this project it is argued that the development of a system geared towards the personalisation of learning must be accompanied by the development of a set of pedagogical methodologies on three levels: the creation of a validation framework (including learning outcomes), facilitation of a personalised/integrated curriculum and the development of an appropriate learning platform (e-portfolio).
Open to discuss new project proposals/ideas with regard to entrepreneurship and management education as well as innovation management and technology based learning.

Experience in international cooperation (mobilities, projects, available study programmes in English language):
The University of Innsbruck has decades of experience with international cooperation and mobility programs. We offer a wide spectrum of study programs in all fields and collaborate with more than 200 institutions in Europe within the Erasmus Program. We have additional agreements with more than 70 universities worldwide. The Uoi participates in all major exchange programs, e.g. Secondos, Swap&amp;Transfer etc. and is a member of many networks, like Asea-Uninet, Eurasia-Pacific Uninet, and others. Many International Study Programs are offered with partner institutions, e.g. an Erasmus Mundus Master in Astrophysics, a Master in Classical Cultures etc. We established “Area Centers” within the university, focusing on France, Italy, Russia, Canada and Inter-American Studies. Additionally, the Uoi has a 40+ year’s strong partnership with the University of New Orleans in student and faculty exchange as well as research projects, including respective partnership offices at both institutions (Center New Orleans at Uoi and Center Austria at UNO), sending more than 70 students to the U.S. every year. The American Corner Innsbruck also promotes academic ties to the U.S. In 2013, the Uoi inaugurated the first academic network with Israel in Austria, AIANI (Austria-Israel Academic Network Innsbruck), which solely focuses on the academic collaboration with Israeli universities and research institutions. This network provides funding for Guest Professors and Fellows as well as grants for joint projects. AIANI provides logistical and organizational support and works on establishing partnerships with Israeli institutions of higher education. It is a networking center, connecting students and faculty from both institutions with each other and with the Innsbruck and Tyrolean community.

The university of Haifa is the largest comprehensive research University in the north of Israel, with 18,000 students in eight faculties (68 Dept.): Education, Humanities, Law, Management, Natural Sciences, Social Sciences, Social Welfare &amp; Health Sciences. Our mission is to conduct research at the highest international level and to prepare the coming generations of scholars, professionals and citizens for Israeli democracy. Haifa University has launched an ambitious program of internationalization that includes receiving more than 1000 foreign students in mobility programs annually, sending an increasing number of students abroad, and launching 16 new international graduate programs, which constitute the leading English language platform in Israel for double degree collaborations. University of Haifa encourages its students to go on exchange for a semester or a year studying at a university abroad. As regard to student mobility, a high quality of mobility pursues educational goals such as enhancing the competences, Knowledge and skills of those involved. It is a changing life experience that contributes to expanding and improving academic collaboration and dissemination of innovations and knowledge. This experience will help students to promote the employability and their personal development. It introduced them to the best of academic content, local culture, opportunities, open minds, personal and academic development, international exposure, employability, network, exposure to innovative curricula and career development. As regards to staff mobility it gives an opportunity to network and get to know each other to the management and academic level of higher education in the partner institutions and bring more collaboration, research and cooperation on new projects. The university of Haifa regards internationalization as a significant means to achieve quality through diversity and to deliver on the university's goals of being a leading university with global reach. University of Haifa vision is essential to ensure high quality of higher education and it is also an important pillar for exchange and collaboration with other parts of the e world. Our philosophy includes an emphasis on academic excellence, integration with local Israelis population through common living quarters and community involvement and a rich schedule of social and cultural activities. University of Haifa sends students to study abroad through our student exchange agreements. We have active exchange partners in many countries in Asia, Europe and North America. In the past we were part of the Erasmus Mundus Program EMAIL and EDEN Consortium : students travel to various European universities through joint projects of the EU : Lund (SE), Heidelberg &amp; Constance (DE), Po Paris (FR), Leuven (BE), Graz (AT), and Lilneas Masaryk (LT).

In order to deal with contemporary challenges in terms of effectiveness and success, academic institutes have to own and develop a wide and more comprehensive set of skills. Accordingly, Higher Education organizations have to consider ways to prepare faculty and students to meet these changes and challenges by providing students the required social and emotional skills for coping and succeeding in today's challenging world. These required skills include the ability to adapt to a changing work environment, to effectively cope with stress, maintain positive relationships and positive attitudes. The project proposal concern applications of soft skills in higher education.

Although BIU is one of the largest institutions of higher education in Israel, with a total undergraduate and graduate student enrollment of more than 34,000 at the main Ramat Gan campus and six regional colleges throughout the country, our institution only recently began the process of formal internationalization. The ability to collaborate with, and learn from, universities in Austria would be of great value to the internationalization strategy of Bar-Ilan University. Our primary interest lies in substantially increasing academic collaborations through staff training mobility projects (K1) and capacity building projects (K2).

Tel Aviv University has cooperation agreements with approximately 250 institutions from all over the world, and dozens of Erasmus+ KA1 International credit mobility agreements. Tel Aviv University has been developing into a global university, conducting exchange programs with hundreds of universities from all over the world. A mobility of thousands of incoming and outgoing students speaks for itself. Tel Aviv University offers the incoming students English taught courses in a wide variety of topics. Tel Aviv University as a rule shares symmetrically the academic responsibilities, roles and tasks as defined in the international agreements. Incoming students are considered as regular full degree students as far as their rights and duties are concerned. Students receive reciprocally academic accreditation. Incoming students are accompanied by the office in charge throughout the whole period of mobility. This includes academic and social guidance as well as social activities such as the "Buddy System" and the opportunity to study both Hebrew and Arabic languages.
